

ePOH

In 1972, millions of Canadians watched two guys from Timmins, two from Sault Ste. Marie, one from Smooth Rock Falls and one from Kirkland Lake help Team Canada win against the powerful Russian Team. This year, 17,000 kids in Northern Ontario are practising for their turn. This centre tells the story of hockey in the north.

Hockey Heritage North Kirkland Lake

Consultant	ePOH INC. Architects and consulting engineers
Services	Master Planning and Full Arch, Mech. and Elec. services
Project Type	interpretive centre
Project Size	? Sq. Ft.
Client	City of Kirkland Lake

The photos illustrate a few of the activities and exhibits that are housed in the building which opened in February 2006.

The building, designed similar to an arena, will house activities such as an interactive/participatory experience called the 'Fun Zone', a chance to 'virtually' interview your hockey heroes, exhibits detailing the contributions of northern players in the NHL, future stars, regional exhibits highlighting the local teams that feed the pro leagues, as well as other interactive and rotating exhibits.

